Iris Introductions

FOR 1933

GLORIOLE—(Gage, 1933). Description by Mrs. Thomas Nesmith: "This Iris is the most outstanding of the new Irises of 1932. A light blue self overlaid with glistening white, the iridescence reminding one of the thick frost crystals found on window panes after a cold winter's night. Might be described as an ice blue self. The flowers are exceedingly large, beautifully formed with slightly flaring falls and perfectly domed standards, the heavy substance, fine finish and texture of the flowers enable them to withstand wind, rain and heat. A wonderful flower of brilliant sheen and great beauty. The flower stalks are very tall and well branched, bearing many blooms, which last over a long period of time. The foliage is strong and vigorous, the plants increase rapidly and are entirely hardy in our New England climate." Height, 42 inches$35.00

NORMA GAGE—(Gage, 1933). Standards cupped, arching; white flushed soft pink. Falls slightly flaring; white flecked with soft pink. A lovely little pink and white intermediate with medium size flowers of good substance and fine texture. Very free flowering. Quite distinct from other pink and white Irises. Midseason$10.00

RED BEAUTY—(Gage, 1933). Standards Dark Vinaceous Purple. Falls Hay's Maroon; brilliant orange beard. Medium size flowers of fine form, substance and texture. The falls are the reddest of any Iris to date, showing no purple when held against the light. Height 28-30 inches. Midseason$5.00

SEEDLING NO. SD-1—(Gage, 1933). Flowers of fine form and substance on well-placed, tall, graceful stalks. Wax yellow overlaid with pink, blending into a bright orange color effect. Bright orange beard. Good size flowers and free blooming. Medium to late. Height, 36-38 inches$5.00

GIANT PURPLE—(Gage, 1933). Enormous dark blue-purple flowers. 32 inches$2.50

SNOWCREST—(Gage, 1932). Sib. This is similar in color to Snow Queen, of which it is a seedling, but it is taller and freer flowering. I showed a few stalks at the Exhibition of the A. I. S., in Boston, last June, and a flood of orders, not anticipated, forced me to withdraw filling orders early in the season, to protect my propagating stock. A limited number of divisions will be supplied this year. Height 38 inches$5.00
